

Mary at the Shore

© Copyright Greg Philby
Original work based on poem 2005.
Song version recorded April 21, 2025.
Released 2025.

V1

Mary walked out to the shore.
The waters, stoic blue.
And in the lake she saw herself
and saw she wasn't true.

Her shallow image floated there translucent, light on dark.
And underneath the film of skin
she saw she had no heart.

CHORUS

Hmmm (saw she had no heart)
Hmmm

V2

The reflection boldly met her gaze
but looked with dormant eyes and Mary felt the hollow cold from passions she'd denied.

The image faltered on the waves.
It pled with her to stay.
But Mary only hung her head
then turned and walked away.

CHORUS

Hmmm (walked away)
Hmmm